

Building a website to support booking sports fields, introduce and sell sports equipment integrated with smart features.

Nguyen Duc Nhuan

Abstract: This topic aims to address the inconvenience in booking football field usage and purchasing sports equipment. Through theoretical research combined with the practical deployment of a web application, we build an integrated system with smart scheduling and sales functions, meeting customer needs and improving management efficiency for field organizers. The expected outcome of this topic is to provide a practical technical solution for the sports industry, while contributing to the development of web technology in the field of sports services.

Keywords: Sports website, court booking, online sales, smart technology, operations management