

Building and developing a task management system for Bina Media company.

Pham Dinh Khanh

Abstract: This topic aims to meet the need for optimizing the workflow of Bina Media Company by building a task management system. The goal is to create a flexible and efficient solution to enhance productivity and work quality. The research methodology includes analyzing the current situation, designing a system based on advanced technology models, and conducting practical trials at Bina Media Company. The significance of the topic lies in its wide applicability in similar businesses, while also contributing to the development of domestic project management technology.

Keywords: Job management system, Bina Media Company, Productivity improvement, Application deployment