

Building a website to support advertising and confirm room rentals for boarding houses in the Thai Nguyen University area.

Hoang Binh Minh

Abstract: In the context of the increasing demand for accommodation among students and workers, this topic focuses on building a website to support advertising and rental confirmation for boarding houses in the Thai Nguyen University area. The objective of the topic is to create an information system that connects tenants with landlords, ensuring transparency and efficiency in the process of searching for and signing rental contracts. The research method is based on a combination of real estate management theory and practical web application development. The topic is expected to contribute to improving user experience and optimizing the transaction process for landlords.

Keywords: website, real estate management, boarding houses, Thai Nguyen University, practical application