

Smart restaurant management system

Doan Dac Trung

Abstract: In the context of the restaurant service business facing numerous challenges, this topic focuses on building an intelligent restaurant management system. The objective of the research is to improve operational efficiency and customer experience through the application of modern technology. The research methodology includes both practical analysis and system design and implementation. The expected results will significantly contribute to the field of restaurant management and provide a foundation for businesses in the industry to adopt advanced technology.

Keywords: Smart management system, Restaurant technology, Hotel management, IoT engineering, Customer experience