

Design of a calendar set about the Mother Goddess religion

Chữ Thị Hường

Abstract: In the context of the increasing demand for information management and communication, this topic focuses on designing a calendar for the Mother Goddess religion to support the storage and organization of content related to rituals. The objective of the research is to develop a system that helps users easily search and utilize information during the performance of rituals, while optimizing the learning and teaching process of the subject. The research method combines theoretical analysis with experimentation to build the most suitable calendar. The expected result is a useful tool that improves the efficiency of the learning and education process, contributing to the development of the field of information management in education.
