

Build a furniture sales website

Pham Anh Hieu

Abstract: In the modern context, online shopping has become an indispensable part of users' lives. This topic aims to research and build a website system specializing in furniture sales with the goal of providing a convenient and efficient shopping experience for customers. Through the process of design, application deployment, and evaluation, the topic not only solves the problem of enhancing brand coverage but also brings significant benefits in terms of information technology. The expected results will contribute to the e-commerce field and simultaneously provide an advanced furniture sales management system.
