

Building a website to sell phones and accessories for Thai Anh company.

Bui Cong Minh

Abstract: This topic aims to meet the online business needs of Thai Anh Company, a unit specializing in mobile phone distribution. The goal is to build an effective sales website system, offering a variety of phone products and accessories with a user-friendly interface. The research method combines online business administration theory with practical web application deployment. The project hopes to contribute to improving the competitiveness of Thai Anh Company in the digital market.

Keywords: E-commerce website, mobile phones, online business, user interface, business administration