

Evaluation of the effectiveness of military recruitment activities at the Military Command of Thanh Cong Commune - Pho Yen District - Thai Nguyen

Tran Thi Sinh

Abstract: Within the framework of this topic, we focus on evaluating the effectiveness of military recruitment activities at the Military Command of Thanh Cong Commune, Pho Yen District, Thai Nguyen Province. The main objective is to identify factors affecting the selection and training process in order to propose solutions to improve the quality of military human resources. The research method includes collecting data through surveys as well as analyzing existing documents. Through this, positive results are anticipated for the future of this activity, contributing to enhancing performance in military recruitment work.

Keywords: military recruitment, military service, effectiveness evaluation