

Design illustrations for the story "Little Tiny Girl"

Nguyen Thuy Tien

Abstract: This topic focuses on designing illustrations for the story 'Thumbelina' to enhance children's reading experience. The context of the topic is determined based on the need to bring fairy tales to life through vivid imagery, while also providing a creative learning method. The main objective is to develop and apply an illustration design process suitable for children's literary content. The research method combines illustration theory with information visualization experiments. Through this, the topic aims to contribute to the development of the illustration design field and provide meaningful application solutions for children's education.

Keywords: Illustration design, fairy tales, educational materials, creativity, story illustration