

Building a football opponent finding application in Thai Nguyen on the Android platform.

Do Khuong Duy

Abstract: In the context of rapidly developing mobile technology, building an application to find football opponents meets the needs of the sports-loving community. This topic focuses on the necessity and practicality of creating a system to connect players in Thai Nguyen province through the Android platform. Through theoretical research and application deployment, the project aims to provide a useful solution for finding opponents, while promoting sports activities in the community. The expected results of the project not only contribute to improving user experience but also make an important contribution to the field of mobile applications.
