

Build an e-wallet app using Android

To Minh Duc

Abstract: In the context of increasingly popular digital life, building an e-wallet application is necessary to meet users' mobile payment needs. This project aims to develop a personal financial management system through an Android application. The research method includes a combination of requirement analysis, design, and application deployment. The expected result is to provide a useful solution for users in managing expenses and investments effectively.

Keywords: Mobile wallet application, Android, Financial management, Mobile payment, Management system