

Application of human resource management software (Perfect HRM) in recruitment at TNG Investment and Trading Joint Stock Company

Nong Thi Huyen

Abstract: In practice, effective human resource management is a key factor for the success of businesses. This topic focuses on applying the Perfect HRM Human Resource Management Software to improve the recruitment process at TNG Investment and Trading Joint Stock Company. The main objective is to build an automated recruitment system, helping to reduce manual work and increase efficiency in the process of finding suitable personnel. The research method combines theory with experimentation, deploying the Perfect HRM application in the company's recruitment process. The expected results will bring significant improvements in human resource management and contribute to enhancing work productivity.

Keywords: Human Resource Management Software, Perfect HRM, Recruitment, TNG Investment and Trading Company, Automation System