

Build a real estate introduction website for the Northern region of Dat Xanh company.

Hoang Van Hau

Abstract: In the context of the increasingly developing real estate market, building a professional website to introduce products is an essential need for businesses. This project aims to design and implement a web system for Dat Xanh Mien Bac Company, best serving its real estate business activities. The research method is based on a combination of website development theory and experimentation to ensure effectiveness in application. It is expected that the completion of this project will bring great value in enhancing the company's competitiveness and promoting the sustainable development of the real estate market.

Keywords: Real estate website, Dat Xanh Mien Bac Company, Web development