

Build a tourism promotion website for Dien Bien province.

Ca Thi Xuan

Abstract: In the context of the socio-economic development of Dien Bien province, building a specialized website to promote tourism has become essential. This project aims to develop a website system to attract tourists through detailed tourism services and information. Through theoretical research on web administration combined with practical implementation, the project is expected to propose an optimal technical solution. The expected outcome of the project not only contributes to boosting the tourism industry of Dien Bien province but also brings significant application value to other regions in the future.

Keywords: Tourism website, Web administration, Tourism promotion, Dien Bien