

Build a real estate business website.

Nguyen Thai Duong

Abstract: In today's digital age, building a real estate business website has become an urgent need to optimize transaction processes and enhance the competitiveness of enterprises in the real estate sector. This topic focuses on developing a website system with the main goal of providing a comprehensive technical solution, from real estate data calculation to designing a user-friendly and efficient interface. Through a combination of theoretical research and experimentation, the topic aims to contribute to the field of information technology in real estate management while meeting the demands of the Vietnamese real estate market.

Keywords: Real estate business website, Information technology, Real estate management, Digitalization, Property market