

Building a task management application for Son Phat C&T; company.

Tran Thanh Quy

Abstract: In the context of increasingly complex work management within organizations, this topic focuses on building an effective task management system for Son Phat C&T; Company. The project aims to optimize workflows and enhance labor productivity through the application of information technology. The research methodology includes applying modern management principles combined with experimentation to develop specific solutions. The system is expected to bring significant improvements in governance and enhance the adaptability of Son Phat C&T; Company in an ever-changing business environment.

Keywords: Information technology application, Project management, Son Phat C&T; Company