

Building an online laptop sales management application running on the Android operating system for Tuấn Nghĩa laptop store - Thái Nguyên

Tran Van Vinh

Abstract: In the context of the booming online business environment, this topic focuses on building an online laptop sales management system for Laptop Tuấn Nghĩa store in Thai Nguyen. The main objective is to provide an optimal solution to enhance operational efficiency and meet customer needs online. The research method combines academic approaches to analyze the market and technology trends with practical implementation of the application on the Android operating system. The system is expected to bring significant benefits in improving customers' online shopping experience and enhancing business management performance for the store.

Keywords: Android application, Online laptop sales management, Online business, Thai Nguyen, Tuan Nghia Laptop Store