

Build a website for Quoc Ngoc store using Laravel

Ngo Huy Ich

Abstract: This topic focuses on building a Web application based on the requirements of a retail store. The context for proposing this topic is to meet the need for modernizing e-commerce operations for Quốc Nội store, thereby improving management efficiency and customer service. The main objective is to design and deploy a Website system using Laravel, a powerful PHP framework, suitable for the project's feature and scale requirements. The research method combines studying information from relevant documents and practical deployment in a production environment. The expected result is an effective Website system that meets online business needs well and contributes to enhancing the competitive position of Quốc Nội store in the current market.

Keywords: Website, Laravel, PHP, E-commerce, Online business