

Research on the bidding process for supplying chemicals and medical supplies at An Binh Medical Equipment Import-Export Company Limited

Pham Thi Thao

Abstract: This topic focuses on researching and proposing improvements to the bidding process for supplying chemicals and medical supplies. Based on the practical operations of An Binh Medical Equipment Import-Export Company Limited, the problem aims to optimize the procurement process and ensure a stable supply for healthcare units. The research method combines bidding theory with project management experimentation. The expected results of the topic will contribute to improving operational efficiency, reducing costs, and enhancing the quality of medical services.

Keywords: bidding, chemicals, medical supplies, An Binh Medical Equipment Import-Export Company Limited, project management