

Building an accounting program for sales and determining business results at Tan Phat AA Company Limited - Hai Duong

Vu Ngoc Huong

Abstract: This topic focuses on building a sales accounting management system for Tan Phat AA Company Limited - Hai Duong. The selection of this topic aims to meet the practical needs of improving the company's business management efficiency. The main objective is to design and implement a program that supports the automation of business result reporting processes through the integration of sales accounting modules. The research methodology includes conducting a needs survey, analyzing the existing system, and identifying functional and technical requirements for the new system. Through this, the topic hopes to contribute to enhancing the enterprise's financial management capabilities through the application of information technology.

Keywords: Sales accounting, business management, information technology, report automation, Tan Phat AA Company Limited - Hai Duong