

Application of information technology in cash accounting at May 10 Joint Stock Company, Hanoi

Tran Thi Thuy

Abstract: In the current context, applying information technology (IT) to cash accounting has become necessary to enhance management efficiency and reduce errors. This study aims to research how to implement IT solutions in the accounting system of May 10 Joint Stock Company, Hanoi. Accordingly, the study combines theoretical research with practical experimentation at the company to assess the impact of IT on work performance and the quality of financial information. The expected results will provide useful solutions for applying IT in cash accounting, thereby contributing to improving the enterprise's competitiveness.

Keywords: Information technology, Cash accounting, May 10 Joint Stock Company, Hanoi, Application solutions