

Analysis of the efficiency of capital investment in economic development of Thai Nguyen province

Nguyen Thi Hoan

Abstract: This topic aims to analyze the efficiency of capital investment in economic development in Thai Nguyen province, Vietnam. Based on the current situation, the topic identifies the goal of optimizing the benefits from investments by evaluating the profitability and performance of investment projects. The research method combines theory on investment management with empirical analysis based on actual data. The expected result is to build an investment efficiency evaluation system that can be widely applied, making an important contribution to enhancing the economic development capacity of Thai Nguyen province.

Keywords: Investment, economic development, Thai Nguyen, investment management, performance evaluation