

Building a website for ordering and shipping from major Chinese e-commerce platforms to Thai Nguyen.

Do Pham Hung Bac

Abstract: In the context of increasing digitalization, leveraging goods from major Chinese e-commerce platforms to serve the domestic market is an urgent requirement. This topic focuses on building a Website system to support customers in ordering and shipping products from platforms such as Alibaba and Taobao to Thai Nguyen province. The research method combines theory and experimentation to ensure the project's feasibility. It is expected that the implementation will create many new business opportunities while promoting local e-commerce activities.
