

Building an accounting program for sales and determining business results at Thanh Nam General Service Investment Joint Stock Company, Ba Dinh, Hanoi.

Nguyen Thi Duc

Abstract: This topic aims to research and build a sales accounting management system with the goal of improving efficiency and accuracy in managing and calculating business results at Thanh Nam General Service Investment Joint Stock Company. Through the experimental process, the topic applies theoretical accounting methods with the support of information technology to develop an application program. The expected results will provide management with useful tools for making business decisions and improving work performance.

Keywords: Sales Accounting, Thanh Nam General Service Investment Joint Stock Company, Business Management, Information Technology, Application Program