

Building an accounting program for tools and supplies at Van Xuan Production and Trading Service Joint Stock Company, Cau Giay, Hanoi

Nguyen Trung Duc

Abstract: This topic aims to address the issue of cost management and valuation of tools and equipment at Van Xuan Production, Trade, and Service Joint Stock Company by developing an appropriate accounting program. The goal is to provide management with an automated accounting system to enhance efficiency in financial control. The research method is based on a combination of financial management theory and empirical application of information technology. The topic is expected to contribute to improving the enterprise's asset management capacity, thereby promoting sustainable business development.

Keywords: Accounting, Tools and instruments, Asset management, Information technology, Corporate accounting