

Building a cash accounting program at HP Vietnam Production and Trading Joint Stock Company

Pham Thi En

Abstract: This topic aims to build a cash fund accounting management system for HP Vietnam Production and Trading Joint Stock Company, meeting the requirements of modernizing financial management. Through a combination of theoretical research and experimentation, the topic will assess the current state of the accounting system at the company and develop appropriate technical solutions to enhance the efficiency of cash fund management. The expected results will provide a reliable support tool for managers in controlling and optimizing the cash flow process, thereby promoting the sustainable development of the enterprise.

Keywords: Cash accounting, financial management system, HP Vietnam Production and Trading Joint Stock Company, modernization of management, accounting techniques