

Building and completing the sales accounting and accounts receivable at Doan Thang - Bac Giang One Member Limited Liability Company

Nguyen Thi Luong

Abstract: This topic aims to research, design, and implement a sales and accounts receivable management system for Doan Thang One Member Limited Liability Company. Applying technology to improve accounting processes in practice not only brings high applicability but also contributes to enhancing the financial efficiency of the enterprise. Through a combination of theoretical research and empirical methods, the topic hopes to achieve the goal of building a comprehensive solution suitable for the company's business characteristics and contributing to promoting sustainable development.

Keywords: Sales accounting, debt management, accounting system, information technology, improving financial efficiency