

Complete the cash accounting subsystem management program at the Department of Information and Communications of Bac Kan Province.

Nong Thi Huong Sam

Abstract: This topic aims to perfect a cash accounting subsystem management system suitable for the practical operations of the Bac Kan Provincial Department of Information and Communications. Through theoretical research combined with application deployment, the topic identifies necessary factors to optimize cash processing and control procedures, while ensuring accuracy and transparency in financial reporting. The expected results will bring higher financial management efficiency and enhance the unit's competitiveness.

Keywords: Accounting management, Cash, Department of Information and Communications, Bac Kan, Application system