

Building a Website for Dương Mai Wedding Photo Studio - Bắc Giang

Tran Huy Hung

Abstract: In the context of the strong development of information technology, building a professional website for the Dương Mai-Bắc Giang wedding photography studio aims to meet the needs of effective service management and promotion. This topic combines theoretical research with experimentation to design and deploy a website system with features that optimize user experience. The expected result is a high-quality digital solution that supports enhanced market competitiveness and contributes to the development of the wedding service industry in Bắc Giang.

Keywords: Professional website, Information management, Service promotion, Information technology, Website design