

Building an online Party member and Youth Union member management website for the Faculty of Information Technology, Thai Nguyen University of Information Technology and Communications.

Hoang Ngoc Hung

Abstract: In the context of the continuous development of information technology (IT), building an online management website for Party members and Youth Union members has become extremely necessary. This project aims to create a system that effectively manages information about Party members and Youth Union members, while also providing learning and training support services for students of the Faculty of Information Technology. Through a combination of theoretical research and experimental implementation, this project not only improves management work efficiency but also contributes to the development of the IT industry in the field of organizational administration.

Keywords: Online management website, Party members and Union members, Faculty of Information Technology, Thai Nguyen University of Information and Communication Technology, information technology