

Building a Material Management Program at Thang Long - Hung Yen Packaging Company Limited

Tran To Loan

Abstract: In the current period, the efficiency of raw material management plays a key role in the development of enterprises. This topic aims to solve the problem of improving raw material management capacity at Thang Long - Hung Yen Packaging Co., Ltd. through the construction and deployment of an automated management system. The research is based on a combination of raw material management theory and actual business operations. The expected result is to create an effective solution, contributing to enhancing the company's competitiveness.

Keywords: Raw material management, Automatic management system, Thang Long - Hung Yen Packaging Company Limited