

Research and development of a loan support program at the Dai Hung Commune People's Credit Fund - Khoai Chau District - Hung Yen Province

Dao Thi Hieu

Abstract: In the socio-economic context of Vietnam, small and medium-sized enterprises still face many difficulties in accessing loans. This topic aims to research and develop a program to support lending activities at the People's Credit Fund of Dai Hung Commune - Khoai Chau District - Hung Yen Province. The goal is to improve capital access for local enterprises by analyzing needs, implementing risk management technology applications, and building an online support system. The research method combines theoretical and empirical research. Expected results will bring significant benefits to both enterprises and the Credit Fund, contributing to promoting local economic development.

Keywords: People's credit funds, lending operations, risk management technology, online support, local economic development