

Build a website to introduce beautiful house models in construction within Thai Nguyen province.

Pham Thi Bich Phuong

Abstract: This topic aims to contribute to improving knowledge about modern housing architecture and design in Thai Nguyen province through the development of a specialized website. Research into the actual context of the construction industry here shows a need for enhanced access to new, beautiful house models suitable for urbanization trends. The objective of the topic is to design and deploy a website system providing information on highly-rated beautiful house models in the locality. The research method combines theory with experimentation to ensure professional content while reflecting current construction realities. It is expected that the product of this topic will significantly contribute to raising awareness of beautiful housing architecture, thereby promoting the local construction industry.

Keywords: House architecture, Urban construction, Architecture website, Residential design, Thai Nguyen