

Research some issues regarding online payment and apply them to Song Tron Informatics Trading and Service Company Limited.

Nguyen Van Luan

Abstract: In the context of the digital economy's development, grasping new trends in online payment has become essential. This topic aims to study several important issues regarding online payment and apply solutions in practice at Sóng Tròn IT Trading and Service Company Limited. The goal is to build a safe and efficient payment management system while minimizing risks for the business. Through a combination of theoretical research and experimentation, this topic will provide useful information to improve the payment process and enhance the company's competitiveness.

Keywords: Online payment, Digital technology, Payment management, Transaction security, E-commerce