

Building a deposit management program at AGRIBANK branch in Kien Xuong district, Thai Binh province

Tran Thi Diep

Abstract: In the context of an increasingly developing financial market, the necessity to optimize the deposit management process is undeniable. This topic focuses on building a deposit management program for AGRIBANK, Kien Xuong district branch, Thai Binh province, aiming to solve the problem of improving management efficiency and best meeting customer needs. Through theoretical research combined with practical application deployment, this topic aims to provide a modern, safe, and convenient deposit management system for the bank. The expected results will bring great value in improving customer service and enhancing AGRIBANK's competitive position.

Keywords: Deposit management, AGRIBANK, financial management system